BEST PRACTICES
Academic Year 2015- 2016

Best Practices: 01

1. Title of the Practice: To encourage Entrepreneurship among the girls students

2. Objective of the Practice:

To make awareness among the student of the college the girl child today and women of tomorrow play a crucial role for the development of the society. To sustainable development in rural and backward states, it is essential that more and more local people are engaged.

3. The Context:

The majority of the female students of this college belong to the rural areas. The increasing population and very little availability of alternative private employment have created employment crisis in the government sector due to non availability of employment opportunities the educated youth, the entrepreneurship are only hope and source of direct and indirect employment generation.

4. The Practices:

Namrup College has been taking initiative different programmes, through the women studies and development cell since 2011. A one day workshop was organized by women cell of this college on the topic "Pickle making and Cloth dyeing". In this workshops how can be made different types of pickles. More than 50 female students were participated in this workshop. Not only pickle making but also cloth dyeing were demonstrated in this workshop. This workshop was conducted by know legible person invited from other college. This workshop helped student and to upgrade the skill of students and them to start income generating activities of their own or to get gainfully employed. Moreover, another programme in this period was a three months certificate course which was conducted by the women cell. This certificate course was only for the girl students of the college funded by the college authority. After completion of this course they start their own business.

5. Evidence of success:

The women studies and development cell have met success to some extent. After completion of the course the female students of our college starts to earn money.

Problems encountered and resources required:

The most difficult challenge in this regard is the shortages money in the hands of women cell. Students for whom these programmes have been organized come from more economically poor background. So, this type of programme also encouraged students

Best Practice -02

1. Title of the Practice: Wall Magazine Competition among students of Namrup College (Inter – Department)

2. Objective of the Practice:

Youngsters are sources of abundance of energy. They cannot be judged only by their performance in an examination of a definite syllabus. They are a treasure of hidden talents in diversified fields like sports, in cultural activities, in writing skill etc. In order to search for talent in writing, innovative presentation skill, wall magazine is very good platform in college level.

3. The Context:

In order to extract the knowledge and mind set of the students through writing, Wall Magazine is very good initiative.

4. The Practices:

The Students of Namrup College are very enthusiastic about the departmental wall magazine competition. Generally, a teacher in the department guides them in making the wall magazine in which the student writers try to cover different topics. They have write-ups in political issues, economical issues, social issues, literature, recent scientific development, on problems facing by them life stress and depression, recipes, jokes and a lot more other relevant topics. They make a beautiful design for the magazine topic and give a meaningful name of the wall magazine. During inauguration of the magazine, a group leader explains about the topic before the judges. The competition is very difficult because all the departments work hard to make the magazine an excellent one. Three winners are selected and a running trophy is given to the winner of the first prize.

4. Evidence of success:

The College has been successful in producing many budding writers through wall magazine competition. Interpersonal relationship increases among students and teachers through this competition. Deep involvement of the students in this competition enhances their thinking skill in different ground of current relevant topic of the society. The competition also builds up team spirit among the students. Hidden talents are surfaced during this competition. Decorating the magazine with handicrafts and drawings and also providing innovative ideas bring some quiet students to the front. This competition also enhances the imaginative and creative writing power of the students.

5. Problems:

In the surface, there are only positive things happening during departmental wall magazine competition but sometimes due to some constraints of semester system, it is difficult to hold such type of competition.
